

I enjoy not being bothered in my home by telemarketers. I believe that the No Call List in Wisconsin is fair. I agree that if you are no longer willing to deal with a business that they should not be allowed to continuously harass you. That is pretty much how I view telemarketing. If I wanted any of the items or information being peddled by telemarketers, I would look for the information and products on my own. Right now the only calls that make it thru are Police and Fire Dept fundraisers and your occasional pesky radio survey of one sort or another. Now if my phone rings after 8 pm I can pretty much bet it is going to be someone I would like to talk to.
